

Foreclosure Prevention Workshop

FOR STRUGGLING HOMEOWNERS
Open to the Public

Many New Englanders are contending with problematic mortgages, falling home values, economic strain, and rising home foreclosures. The Federal Reserve Bank of Boston and co-sponsors have organized this foreclosure-prevention workshop to give concerned borrowers an opportunity to meet one-on-one with their loan servicer. Borrowers will be able to discuss their own situation, learn about the options that may be available to them, and ideally begin steps to improve their situation and avoid foreclosure. In addition to loan servicers, local housing counselors will be available to assist borrowers. Related information will also be available.

Get Help to Save Your Home Please Alert Anyone You Think May Be Interested

WHAT

Work out a plan for your mortgage.

Borrowers can talk face-to-face with their lender and local housing counselors.

WHERE

Connecticut Convention Center
100 Columbus Boulevard, Hartford, CT

WHEN

Saturday, February 14, 2009
10:00 AM to 4:00 PM

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Visit www.theinformedhomebuyer.org or call 1-800-882-1600

Borrowers can call the 800 number to learn if their lender will be present and can leave their name, questions about the event, and a callback number.
Se habla español. Nós falamos português.

IMPORTANT

Borrowers should bring documentation for their income, expenses, debt, and mortgage.

